"If you want to learn the art and science of electric bass, synth bass, basic keyboard skills, traditional and jazz theory and the application of theory, or want to learn to read and write music notation and produce and arrange music; you could be a Bassologist." ~ Anthony Wellington

Anthony Wellington, founder of a new teaching studio called "Bassology", is looking for Bassologists who are ready to rapidly move to the next level of playing bass.

Anthony Wellington, who performs regularly with Victor Wooten and also teaches at his Bass Nature Camp, has also been an instructor at Gerald Veasley's Bass Boot Camp. He also offers online lessons through MusicDojo.com, an online music instruction school. Anthony is a popular instructor and clinician who has been teaching professionally for over 10 years.

"Anthony is one of the best music teachers I know. He teaches stuff that other teacher don't even know...I would recommend him to teach anybody!" ~ Victor Wooten.

'It has been such a pleasure to share a teaching forum with Anthony over the past 10 years. His thoughts and skills as a teacher have further inspired me as I teach!' ~ Chuck Rainey

Anthony is a full-time bass teacher with a private teaching studio in Waldorf, MD equipped with the best gear and teaching tools available.

"Don't just listen to and read about the experts, become one of them!" ~ Anthony Wellington
